

OTITIS MEDIA

- The reported data on otitis media and parental smoking are inconsistent, and even contradictory, in nature.
- While eight studies have reported a statistically significant association between parental smoking and middle ear problems in children, ten studies have reported no statistically significant association.

2023703161